

BRICS Log in is switching to Researcher Auth Service (RAS)

The traditional username/password Log in flow for BRICS will soon be replaced by NIH's Researcher Auth Service (RAS). This change will require all users to follow a set of steps to log in/sign up for RAS and link your BRICS account to your RAS account. RAS supports these identity providers, NIH PIV/CAC card, or an account with Login.gov.

Users with an NIH/HHS account should use their NIH PIV/CAC card as the identity provider when logging in with RAS.

Users without an NIH/HHS account will need to use Login.gov. If the user does not already have a Login.gov account, they will need to create one and then select Login.gov as the identity provider when logging in with RAS.

Electronic Signature

The system uses electronic documentation which may require you to provide an electronic signature when you enter, submit, change, access, download, or audit electronic data records.

ELECTRONIC SIGNATURE. This Acknowledgement and Certification of Understanding ("Acknowledgement") is to inform you that by submitting an electronic signature, you are providing an electronic mark that is held to the same standard as a legally binding equivalent of a handwritten signature provided by you. For purposes of the acknowledgement, a digital mark is considered your legally typed First and Last Name (legal name may include middle name, initial or suffix). A date will be recorded with both entries. Any part of the system requiring an electronic signature may contain a signature acknowledgment statement provided in the same area requiring the electronic signature.

AGREEMENT: By signing this Acknowledgement, I agree that my electronic signature is the legally binding equivalent to my handwritten signature. Whenever I execute an electronic signature, it has the same validity and meaning as my handwritten signature. I will not, at any time in the future, repudiate the meaning of my electronic signature or claim that my electronic signature is not legally binding. I also understand that it is a violation for any individual to sign/e-sign any transactions that occur within system on behalf of me. Any fraudulent activities related to electronic signatures must be immediately reported to the system operations team. Violation of these terms could lead to disciplinary action, up to termination, and prosecution under applicable Federal laws.

CERTIFICATION OF UNDERSTANDING: I also understand, acknowledge, agree and certify that:

- I accept my responsibilities in the use of electronic signatures as described on this form.
- My execution of any form of an electronic signature function performed on the system to be the legally binding equivalent of my traditional handwritten signature, and that I am accountable and responsible for actions performed under such an electronic signature.
- I will not share components of my electronic signature such that my signature could be executed by another individual. Such components may include, but are not limited to legal name, passwords or any such identifiers.

Other Changes

3.1 Logging out of your BRICS account and/or your RAS account.

1. When logged into your BRICS account, you will see a logout dropdown at the top right of the page.

2. Should you wish to stay logged into other applications using RAS you may choose to only log out of your BRICS instance. If you wish to logout of all RAS applications you are currently signed into, select Log out of RAS.

3.2 API token

The API token serves as your identity and access control to the entire system. This token is similar to a password and should be protected as such. The token updates every ~30 minutes minimum, on every login, and every session update.

Previously the API token was retrieved by making a request to `/auth/login` with the user's username/password. However, this has now changed:

For users to retrieve/refresh the API token, they will need to log into BRICS and navigate to the Account Management module. The "My Profile" page will load, and the API token can be accessed from there.

The screenshot shows the BRICS Account Management interface. The top navigation bar includes Home, Workspace, ProFoRMS, Subject Management, Data Dictionary, Data Repository, Query, Meta Study, and Account Management. The left sidebar menu is expanded to 'Account Management', with 'My Profile' selected. The main content area is titled 'My Profile' and contains two columns of user information. The left column includes Username, First Name, Middle Name, Last Name, E-Mail, Affiliated Institution (NIH), Phone Number, and NIH Federal Identity (None Specified). The right column includes Account Status (Active), Street Line 1, City, Country, Postal Code, State, and Cell Phone. Below the profile information is the 'API Tokens' section, which explains the token's purpose and provides instructions on how to use it in API calls. It includes a sample authorization header: `Authorization: Bearer ABC.ABC123.123`. A list of conditions for token renewal is provided, and a sample webservice call is shown: `GET /gateway/rasauth/user/extendApi`. At the bottom of the API Tokens section, there is a 'Token' field containing a masked token value and a 'Copy' button, which is highlighted with a red box and a red arrow pointing to it.

API Tokens

This token serves as your identity and access control to the entire system. This token is similar to a password and should be protected as such.

When making API calls, include this token in an Authorization header with the prefix "Bearer". For example:

```
Authorization: Bearer ABC.ABC123.123

Note the capital A in "Authorization", the capital B in "Bearer", and the space between the word "Bearer" and the token itself. This communication complies with RFC 6750. The token itself is a JSON Web Token (JWT) which complies with RFC 7519 and useful information, such as its expiration time, can be extracted from it. To renew the token, the following conditions must be met:

- The current token must not be expired. See the "exp" claim within the token for its expiration time.
- The underlying login session must not be more than 15 days since its initial web-interactive login.

To renew the token, make a webservice call with the following format:

```
GET /gateway/rasauth/user/extendApi
Host: this page's domain
Authorization: Bearer < This access token >
